Marion College

Anticipation

Students restlessly casting fleeting glances toward the wall, teachers skipping sections of lecture notes, the chapel speaker placing his watch on the podium, kids lining up for lunch . . .

What is it? TIME. And what is time? Time is the mark and measure of events. Time to us during our college days—only brief MOMENTS—consumed . . . consumed before they are realized.

It waits for none . . . runs out for some . . . yet is dealt equally to all. Everyone has all the time there is.

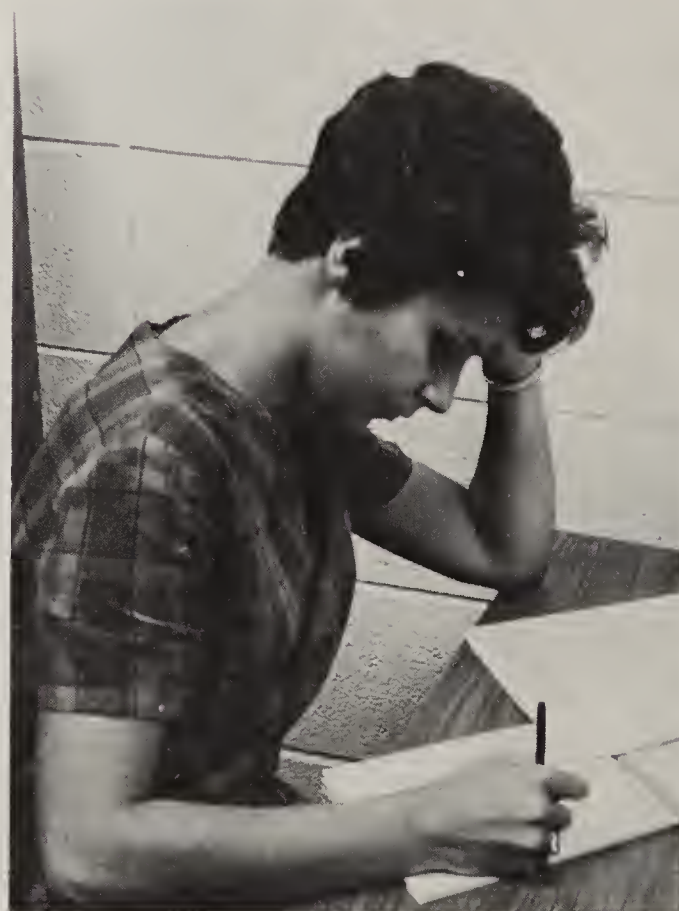

Within these pages are captured passing MOMENTS of our time at Marion College during the nineteen sixty-eight—sixty-nine school year.

Administration . . . faculty . . . students . . . , THIS MOMENT IS YOURS . . .

Hurry, we'll be late!
Is that required?
Hey, where's your beanie?

Frustration

Participation

Homecoming, sports, and club meetings, too.
Never a dull moment; there's plenty to do.

Studies, athletics, and fine arts, too;
It takes concentration in all that we do.

Concentration

Maturation

Then we grew—
spiritually, emotionally,
mentally, and physically.
Our campus grew too.

Adaptation

Finally,
we become accustomed
to our surroundings—
teachers, roommates, and
our favorite spot in the library.

Relaxation

Frequently our thoughts stray from facts, theorems, and conjugations.

We give our learning
time to solidify.

Dedication

May We Pray with Christ, "Not My Will but Thine Be Done."

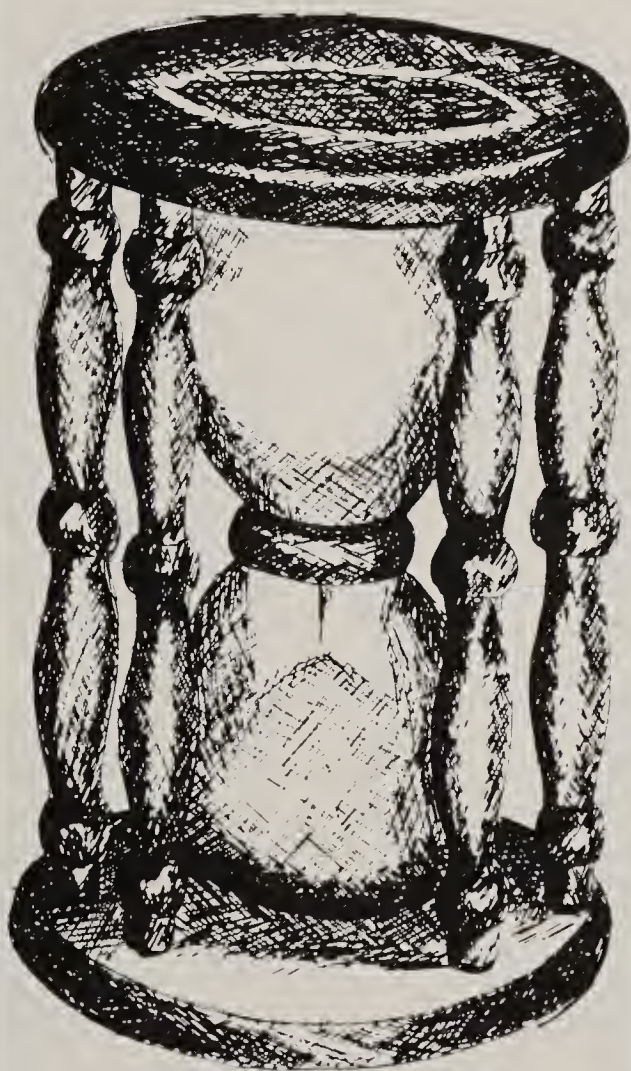

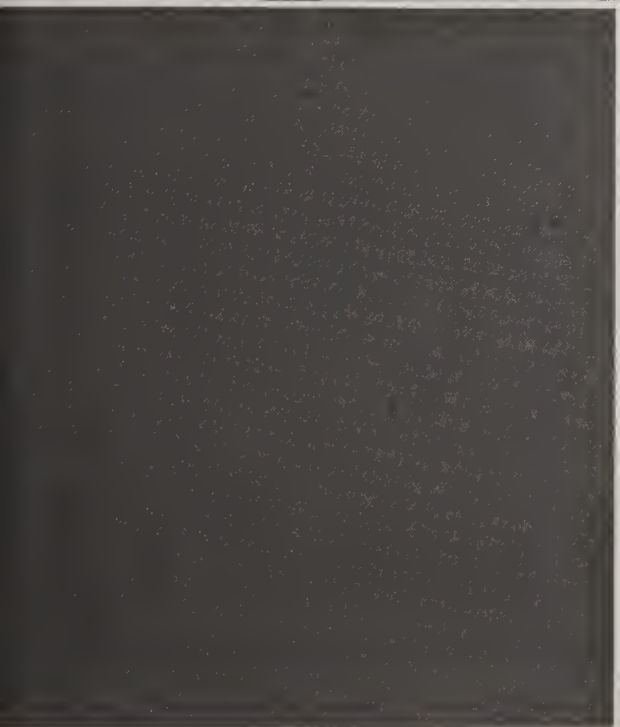

Paul Anderson, the world's strongest Christian.

Our Marion College is a world of learning . . . a world of classes, term papers, books, and profs . . . a world of new experience and adventure. Yet while this world is only four years of our lives, it destines the remaining part. We will never forget this world.

but Individual Effort is the Core

Co-captains of Marion and Huntington confer with officials before Marion's first inter-collegiate soccer game.

Graham Acton concentrates mind and muscle.

Must-of-us would have missed it—but not Mustapha.

Soccer provided an exciting beginning for the Marion Titans in their intercollegiate sports career. Coaches Paul Mills, Bob Anderson, and Junior Solomon trained, disciplined and strove for unity. With their foreign experience co-captains Graham Acton and Tim Kenoyer were excellent leaders, as well as participants. During the Homecoming game with Bethel, MC spirit soared to its height.

Brad Snyder and Kent Stouder receive last minute instructions before entering the action.

Dribbling around his man, John Bond, fullback, takes off down-field.

Fullback, Jim Elsberry, will boom the ball upfield.

Spectator Spirit Boosts the Team

Graham Acton heads the ball down field to team members.

After the homecoming parade, the crowd waits anxiously for the teams to come on the field.

During practice the goalie spears the ball from the attacking line.

The people on the sidelines are just as involved in the game as the players.

Halfback, Dave Powell, takes the ball from the opposing team's line.

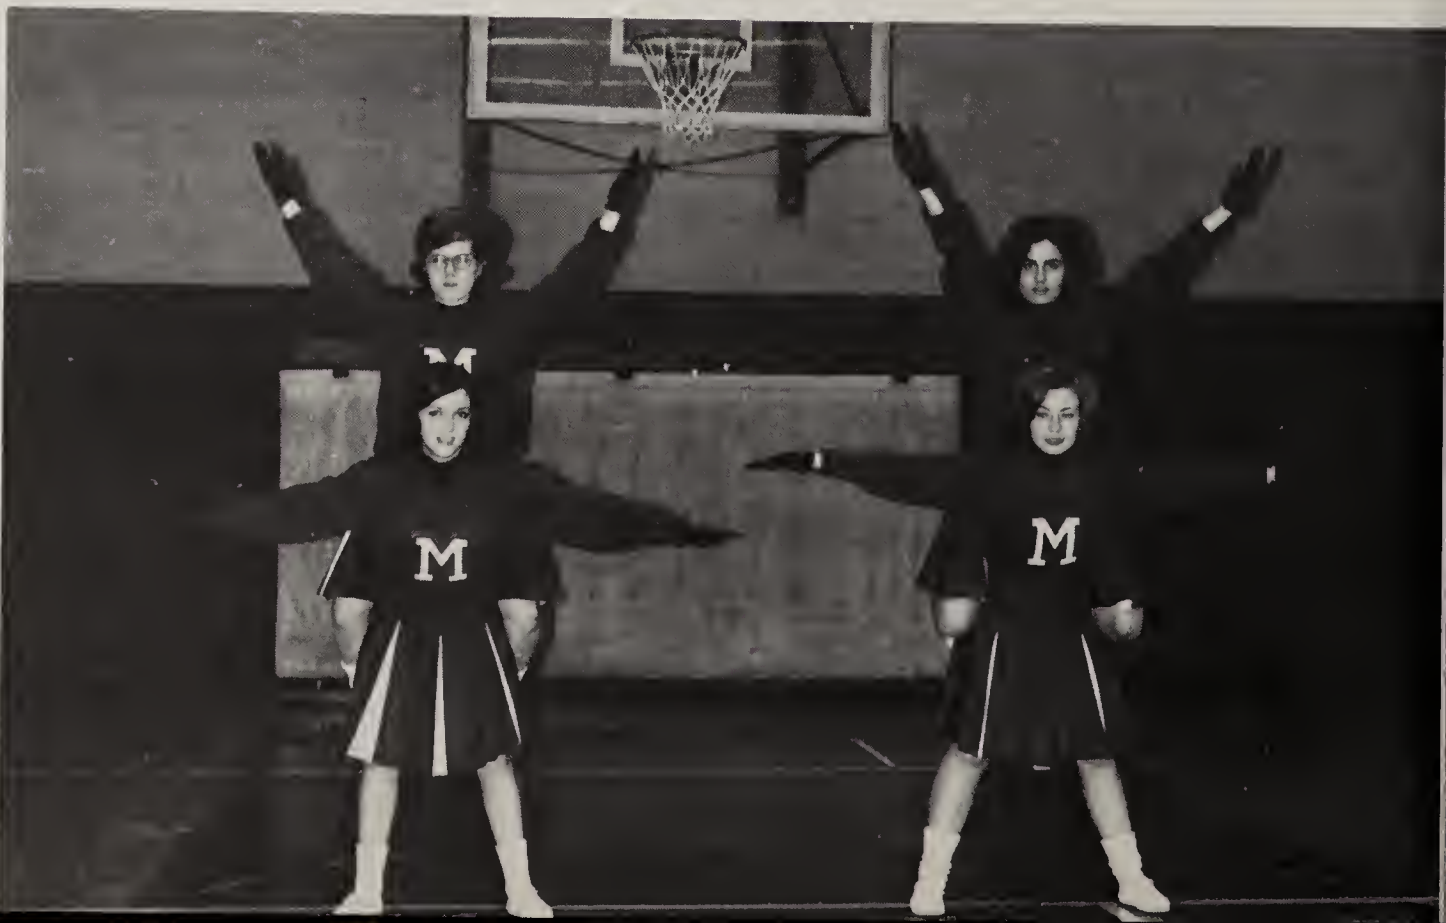

Listen, this is important.

Sock it to 'em, goalie.

Ticking away seconds . . . minutes . . . hours,
the administration is the balance wheel of the school. Though the hour hand passes five, their job is not done. It's not all in a day's work.

ADMINISTRATION

This is the forty-ninth year of Marion College. Within the span of the calendar are the great moments of conscious existence, the now that separates the past from the future. But time has not merely passed through the days of our year. It has been the means of achievement.

Woven among our daily activities has been the construction of the Hall of Science and the Baldwin Center. Both of these buildings are destined to have an important place in the academic and campus life at Marion College. Merger talks have been in the air with a real program of operation coming unto being as the year draws to a close. Registration figures show that eight to ten percent more people populate our classrooms than were here only one year ago. And there have been the new intercollegiate games.

These are but some of the signs of growth on our campus. It takes time to grow but much more is involved than time. Effort and response are there too.

In a moment of reflection we pause to thank God "who giveth the increase." Then with one eye on the promises and plans for tomorrow we live today active in the will of God.

This is the story of Marion College in 1969.

For the Lord giveth wisdom: out of his mouth cometh knowledge and understanding. He layeth up sound wisdom for the righteous: he is a buckler to them that walk uprightly. When wisdom entereth into thine heart, and knowledge is pleasant unto thy soul, discretion shall preserve thee, understanding shall keep thee.

Proverbs 2:6-7, 10-11

Perfect wisdom hath four parts, viz., wisdom, the principle of doing things aright; justice, the principle of doing things equally in public and private; fortitude, the principle of not flying danger, but meeting it; and temperance, the principle of subduing desires and living moderately.

Delve Deeper into Their Studies

"No, Mr. Smith, like this."

Today my heart beat 103,389 times,
 my blood traveled 168,000,000 miles,
 I breathed 23,040 times, I inhaled
 438 cubic feet of air, I spoke 4,800
 words, moved 750 major muscles,
 and I exercised 7,000,000 brain cells.
 I'm tired.

Sophomores Find What They Want

Living with hearts that run . . . minds that dream . . . and clocks that have no hour hand are the Sophomores—yet beginning the year with despondency . . . then striving for further independence . . . gradually gaining more self-realization . . . maturing in their attitudes and actions . . . awaking to the imminence of facing the world.

Field hockey can sure wear a person out.

Freshmen Face New Challenges

In the fall, these are the Freshmen—eager yet leary . . . determined yet timid—wondering what the next four years will bring . . . wishing they knew . . . yet glad they don't. In the spring, these are the Freshmen—happy yet sad . . . relieved yet tired—thinking that the next three years will never end . . . wishing they were past . . . yet glad they aren't.

Freshmen found many new experiences—Greg Johnson learned how to cut meat.

And then there's the business world . . . the bypass . . . Washington Street . . . downtown, with products and services from which to select . . . some necessary, some not. From dry cleaners and restaurants and drug stores . . . to men's shops and gas stations and used car lots, we buy magazines and clothing . . . chewing gum and records . . . toiletries and pizzas. Yet, where can we buy time?

OUR MERGER STORY

Indiana District

One—that the world
may believe

To every thing there is a season, and a time to every purpose under the heaven: a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up that which is planted; a time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up; a time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn, and a time to dance; a time to cast away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; a time to get, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to cast away; a time to rend, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; a time to love, and a time to hate; a time of war, and a time of peace.

Ecclesiastes 3:1-8.
